

Hannah Tarbert
Bloomington, Indiana
tarberth@iu.edu
740-607-2932

Work Experience Orientation Specialist
IU First Year Experience Programs. Bloomington, IN.
Jan. 2019- present
Office assistant for FYE and New Student Orientation

Orientation Leader
IU First Year Experience Programs. Bloomington, IN.
May 2018- Aug. 2018
Leader for the New Student Orientation throughout the summer and worked with new students

Education University- Indiana University, Junior Bloomington, IN
Bachelor of Arts- Psychology
Minor- Human Sexuality
GPA 3.1 / Major GPA 3.4

High School- Zanesville High School
Zanesville, OH
2017 Graduate, Valedictorian
GPA 4.2

Research Experience Research Assistant
Psychological and Brain Department, Indiana University
Sept. 2018- present
Claire Wilson, Kirstin Clephane, Amber Craig, Julia Heiman
Study psychological and physiological factors in human sexuality

Leadership Worked as an orientation leader and lead groups of students and parents
Facilitated discussions for new students and parents

Communication Customer service and team building skills within and outside of the work and school community
Spoke with customers and study participants via telephone and in person
Worked with hundreds of people throughout the summer and utilized communication skills everyday

Public Speaking Given speeches in front of hundreds and thousands of people
Know how speak clearly and appropriately for selected audience

Organization Come prepared to meetings and organized within a work and school setting

Interests Human sexuality, gender studies, legal psychology, social psychology

Hobbies Antiquing, Collecting, Baking, Piano, Alto Saxophone